

MO BLUES

'Mo Blues' comprises Matt O'Rielly on lead vocals and guitar, Rex Wright on lead guitar and harmonies.

“The boys are pretty laid back and casual, but their music and singing is quite professional.”

Matt has a great singing voice with a distinct country flavor and prefers the acoustic guitar, while on the other hand Rex can really make an electric guitar sing with his rather unique riffs.

They have been playing with different groups in the Territory for almost twenty years, but have only been playing together since 2009, mainly in pubs and clubs.

To give their music that extra fullness and depth, they make use of electronic equipment (MIDI files) to include other instruments such as drums and keyboards.

Even though Rex has written and recorded many songs, the duo only play 'cover songs'. This ranges from that great blues sound to country and even rock, covering songs from artists like Stevie Ray Vaughan, Paul Kelly, Creedence Clear Water Revival and Kings of Leon.
Just the thing for those of us in our 'middling' years.

They have a repertoire of around 150 covers and get together regularly to update and broaden appeal .